Math 2568 Class Policy and Syllabus, Au, ’16

Class venue and time: 140 W.19th Ave, Room 330, MWF 11:30-12:25

Lecturer e-mail address: tanveer@math.ohio-state.edu

Lecturer Website: http://www.math.ohio-state.edu/~tanveer (see Math 2568 link)

Coverage: §1.1-1.3, 1.5-1.7, 1.9, 2.1-2.3, 3.1-3.5, 5.2-5.4, 3.6-3.7, 4.1-4.2, 4.4-4.7

Expectation: Beyond the first two chapters, which are mostly computational, this course turns distinctly abstract—very different from the experience you are likely to have had in calculus. You are expected to do the necessary work in order to understand and apply these abstract concepts, including proofs. I suspect most of you are unlikely to appreciate its value immediately. I suspect many of you might struggle with proofs initially until you put time and effort to get the hang of it. Linear algebra is widely applicable to many areas of sciences, engineering, as well as quantititative social sciences and business studies. There are many instances where useful algorithms in practical applications involved deep understanding of abstract concepts. The material in this course may be considered basic bread and butter material in introductory linear algebra.

Homework will be assigned every class that will appear on my class website with due dates. Homework will be collected once a week, usually on Friday following the day it is assigned. Only a random subset of problems will likely be graded. The first day homework will be collected will be Friday, 9/2.

Tests: Two in-class tests (9-16 and 11-2) usual class time and a final on 12-15, 10 a.m.-11:45a.m in the usual lecture room. Note test and final dates have all been set now. If you have conflicts, you are expected to straighten them without delay.

Grades: Final grades will be computed on the basis of performance on Homework (50 points), two one-hour exams (200 points) and a final exam (200 points).

Getting Help: Office hours: MWF 10:10-11:20. Additional times available by appoint-ment. Please ask for help at the first sign that you are having difficulty.
Policy about Missed Exam: You will be given make-up exams only under conditions that I deem to be exceptional. Whenever possible, you will have to clear it with me prior to the regularly scheduled exam.
